'Candy Bars' Theme For Homecoming

Homecoming 1986 was a huge success. The week of September 22-26 was chosen to be the time for the student body to select its queen, and show off their class spirit and creativity.

The student body picked their top five girls: Krista Reinholt, Angie Avery, Melissa Kuchar, Melissa Zarazua, and Jennifer Simmet. As the girls rode through the parade with their escorts, the crowd was wondering who would be queen? When halftime came, a much silented crowd roared as Krista Reinholt was announced as queen. The evening proceeded as the sophomores were awarded first place for their float, with the juniors taking the overall spirit award.

To make the evening a complete success, the Rocket football team won the football game 3-0 over league foe Harbor Beach. And after the game to celebrate the evening, the student council sponsored a dance in the high school cafeteria. Music was provided by "Video Dance Productions."

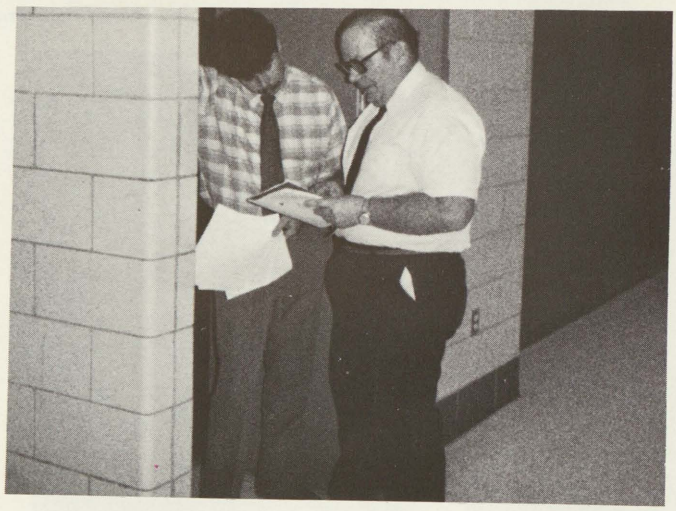
Faculty Meets Student's Needs

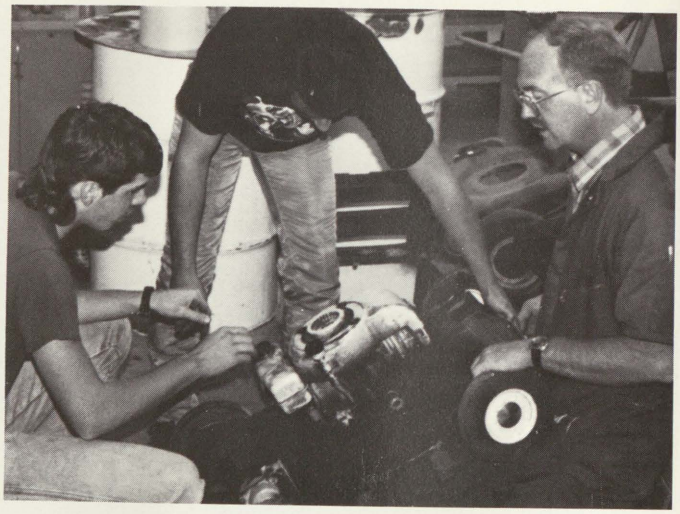
The faculty at Reese High School gained a few new teachers this year. Our teachers provide the students with the best education they can offer.

These hard-working, dedicated teachers have worked hard to prepare the students of Reese High School for the future. We wish them the best in the years to come.

Mr. Behmlander has a little discussion with Krista Reinholt.

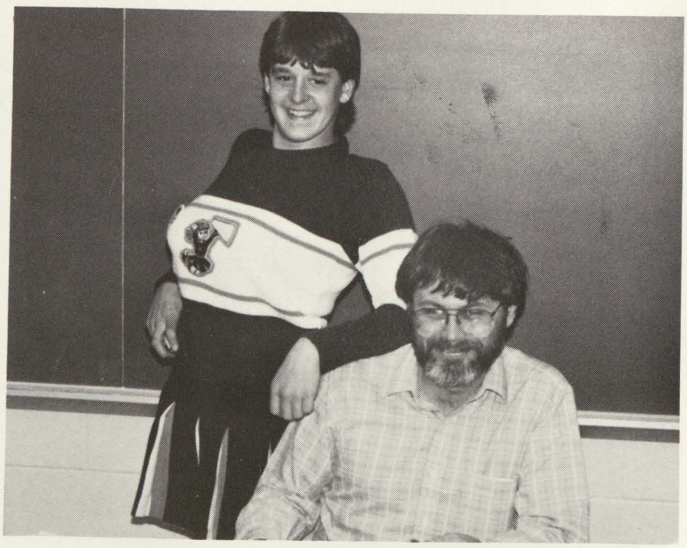


Mr. Bird works out a problem with Mr. Hannah.



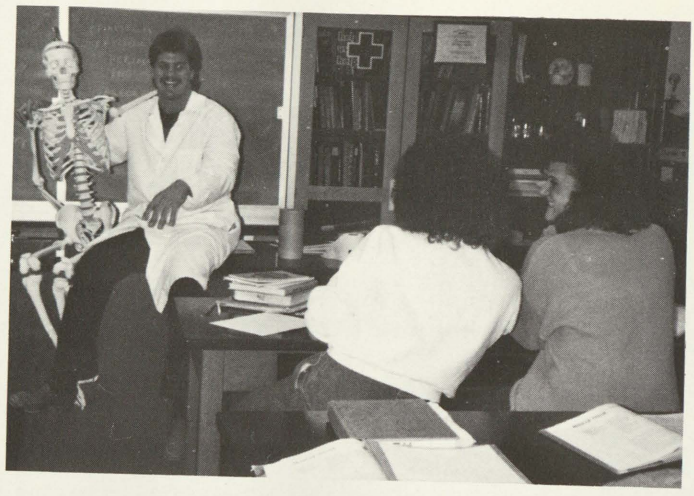
Mr. Brown, Bob Krompetz, and Eric Achenbach fix the motor of a lawn mower.

Mrs. Elbers has a great discussion with her 6th hour class.



Mr. Elliott and Jerel Reif figure out a problem.

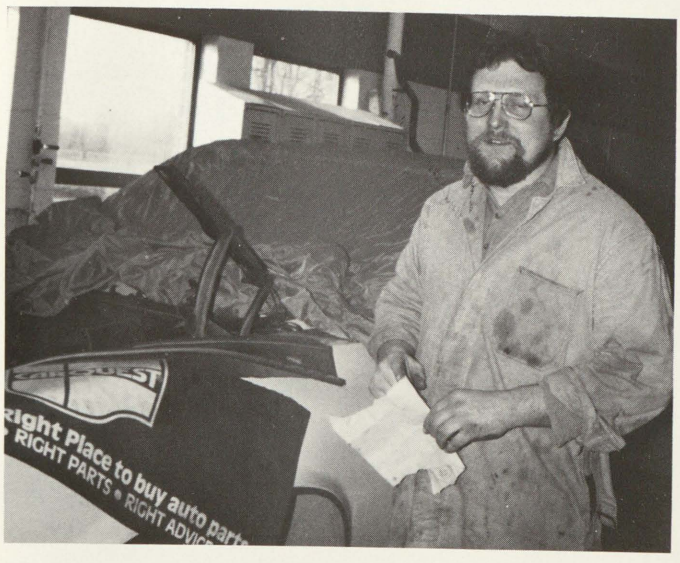
Mrs. Fogus waits for a romantic rendezvous on the "Love Boat".



Mr. Gilchrist and his buddy have a discussion with his class.

Mr. Grysko shows us his bulletin board on colors.

Mr. Hannah helps Ernest Crimes with his schoolwork.



Mr. Hoelzle figures out someone's bill.

Mrs. Hofmeister sings to her class.

School Workers Brighten Our Day

The cooks did another great job this year. They provided us with a nutritional meal. The cooks made sure that everything that came to the Ala Carte or the hot lunch line was hot and ready for serving.

The custodians also did a wonderful job in keeping the school clean and looking like new for the days coming. They have put in a lot of hours here at Reese High.

Class Of 1990 Enters Reese High

The Class of 1990 did a fine job during its first year at Reese High School. They participated in both Homecoming and Comehoming.

At Comehoming they placed third for float and also tied with the Juniors in third place for spirit.

With their advisors Ms. McLellan and Mr. Grysko, great things will happen in the future for the Freshman.

The Freshman Homecoming floats theme is "They'll Melt In Our Hands."

The theme for the Comehoming float is "Seek and Destroy."

The class advisors for the Freshmen are Ms. McLellan and Mr. Grysko.

The class officers for the Freshman did a fine job this year. They are Jeremy Richards, president; Skye Jimenez, vice-president; Jennifer Wilson, secretary; and Ronald Prahin, treasurer.

Sophomores Build Quality Floats

The sophomore class had another fine year taking first place for floats both at Homecoming and Comehoming activities. They also took the overall spirit award both for Homecoming and Comehoming.

They also held a fund raising project selling decorative tin canister of candy, mixed nuts, potpouri, and tea.

This year's sophomore Homecoming float took first place for the second year in a row. The sophomore theme was "Roll 'em Over."

Keith Taylor pulls the Comehoming float for the sophomores. The theme "Heard it through the Grapevine," tied into the overall theme "Songs."

Juniors Host "The Best Of Times"

While the Homecoming and Comehoming seasons weren't especially eventful for the Junior class, they did show a lot of spirit and pride.

They had a busy year raising funds for the Junior-Senior Prom by selling chocolate candy. The theme they decided on was, "The Best of times", and the Prom was held May 2, 1987 at the Delta College Commons.

The class is looking forward to an exciting Senior year.

The Junior advisors are Miss Yaroch and Mrs. Weier.

The Juniors Homecoming float has "Starburst" the Pirates to "Mars".

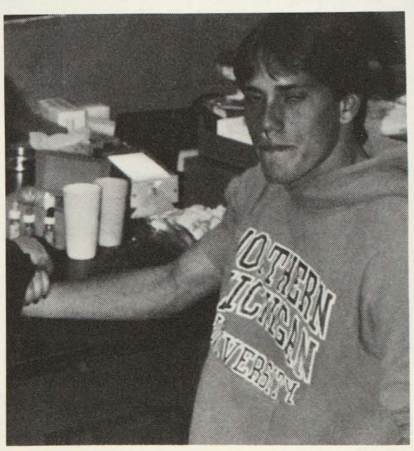
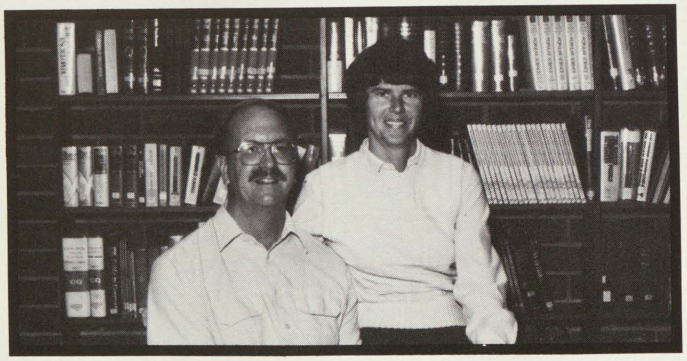
SLOW



1987 — The Best Of The Rest

Was this a great class or what? We stood above for four years, with scholars like Krista Reinholt and Yee Chang Hang, with athletes like Jeff Ryers and Tim Peyok. There would be absolutely no denying that '87 had style. Oh, sure, we didn't make a tremendous mark in the beginning, with Homecoming and Comehoming floats and hallways, but amidst any "Mr. T"-aimed snickers (as if anyone could forget our freshman Homecoming) we held on. As we grew, we began sticking out, rising above, by leaps and bounds. In the next few pages is the closing tribute to this class. And we were good!

Our officers — Standing: A. Yax, A. Avery, and R. Kramer. Sitting: K. Reinholt.



Our Advisors, who led us through these years, were Mr. Brown and Miss Jones.

She looked beautiful at Homecoming, and he stood tall at Comehoming. Krista Reinholt and Don Rau were the pride of the class at these events.

The best of the class this year. Our academic top ten were: Back: B. Howell, Y. Hang, K. Reinholt, M. Boensch, K. Hecht. Bottom: A. Doerr, M. Frost, S. Histed and C. Bauman. Missing is R. Kramer.

"Songs" Highlight '87 Comehoming

Comehoming 1987 was a time for competition as each class used their talents and creativity to best express this years theme, "Songs" in their respective hallways and floats.

The Comehoming celebration was enhanced by halftime festivities at the basketball game. Already excited by the fast play action of the Rockets and Pirates, the crowd cheered wildly for the winning floats and spirit-winning classes.

Then came the crowning of this years king. Don Rau proved victorious from among the five competing seniors and was presented with his crown by the 1986 king, Jeff Felske. After the game, a hard-fought heartbreaker for the varsity team, the students gathered in the cafeteria for a terrific Comehoming dance!

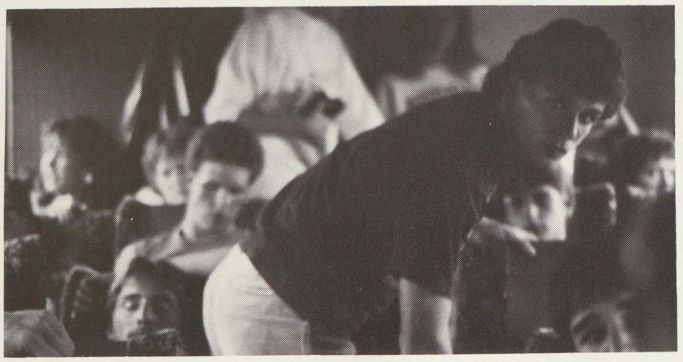
Seniors Visit Canadian Park

What two words can most inspire a group of graduating students? "Senior trip" could probably fit that bill. Almost half of the class of '87 participated in this trip to Toronto, Canada. They were ready to have one of the best times of their lives, and probably didn't fall short of that goal. They jumped off the bus at Canada's Wonderland amusement park and disappeared, paired off and in groups, into it. There were rides to ride, good food offered, and generally a good-time carnival atmosphere awaiting them. When it was done, they rode home, talking, laughing, and most of all keeping the memories of one very good time.

Since it was a party, Mike Null and Marty Gonzales were the first in line. Below, Matt "Bobo" Parrent and friends get ready for fun.

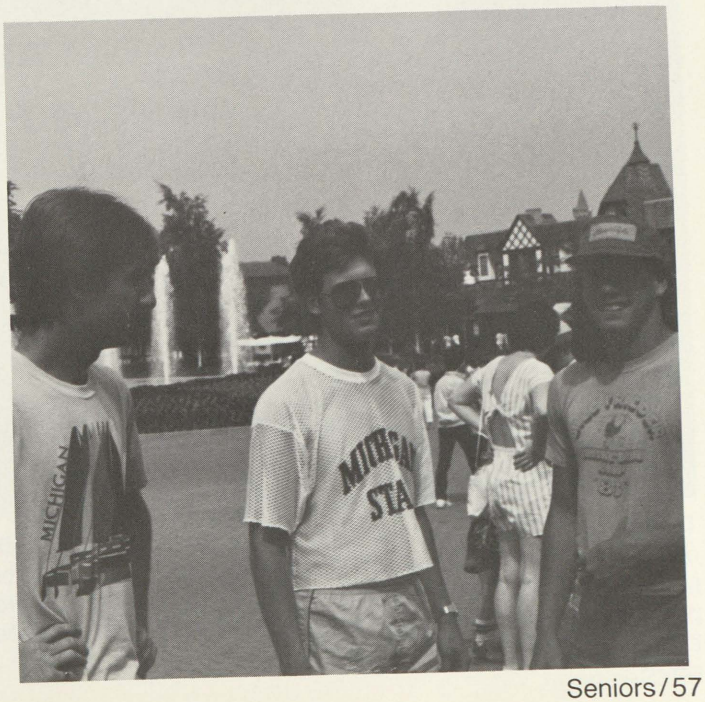


Jeff Ryers leans across the aisle of the bus, loosening up from the long ride to Canada.

And they were off! Kathy Sheldon, Ann Yax, Sussette Bader, and Todd Mueller were four Seniors who were ready to enjoy their trip to Toronto. With an entire amusement park before them, they knew they couldn't run out of activities for the day, and they were right! Everyone on the trip had fun!

The scenery was wonderful at the park, and several seniors are pictured before it.

Ann Yax and Susette Bader pause by the bus and relax. There is only so much that even energetic teens can do before needing to take a quiet moment, obviously!



Above: Lost? Of course not! Advisors Mr. Brown and Miss Jones need never worry about taking a misstep with Coach Gilchrist with them! Right: Three of Reese's finest, Tony Childs, Don Wendland, and Noah Stockmeyer meet in the avenues of the amusement park to discuss the trip so far.

"The Best Of Times" Really Was!

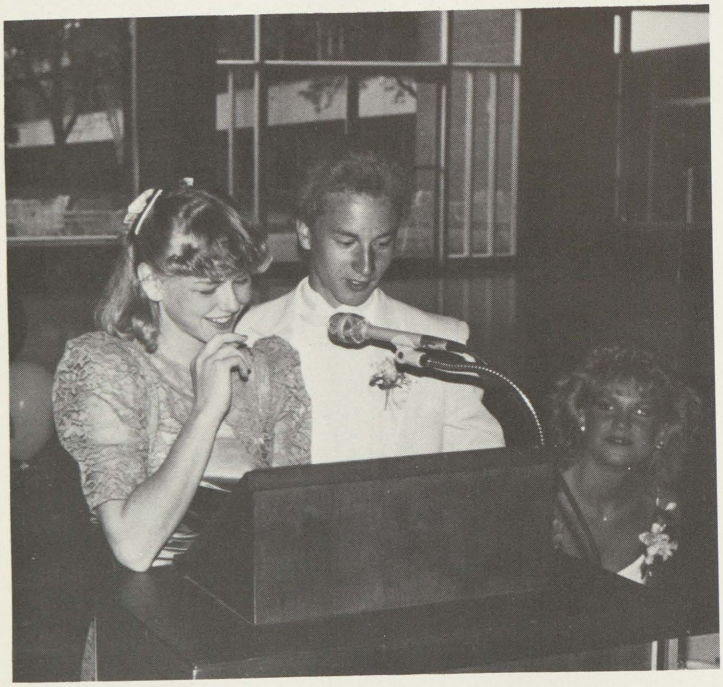
They called it "The Best of Times" and no one could deny that it was. The Delta College Commons never looked so beautiful as the night it was decorated by our junior class. The dance floor alone was adorned with scores of blue and silver balloons, and pervading all was an atmosphere of happiness and celebration.

The evening began at 6:30, when the various junior and senior couples began to arrive, dressed in their finest formal wear. After everyone settled in to tables with their friends, dinner, a wonderfully catered feast, was served. Yet, the night was only beginning.

Following dinner, the mock awards, prophecies, and academic top ten were announced to the waiting crowd, bringing laughter, sighs of relief, and congratulations. Finally came the true spirit of the prom, when the music began to play softly, and all around, the couples who had entered the Commons arm-in-arm a short time earlier, found themselves dancing closely. Some couples then took the opportunity to stroll through the gardens and watch the gentle flow of the fountains, and were rewarded with a beautiful clear night for romance.

As the evening began to draw to a close, more and more of the promgoers left, to gather with friends, or to simply go home and dream of the wonderful night it had been.

Above: Romantic slow dances were the order of the evening, and Todd Mueller and his date, Missy McNiven took the opportunity to get a little closer. Below: Valedictorian Krista Reinholt is honored by Mr. Webster with a medal.



There were speeches and announcements of all sorts to be made at the prom, which only increased the general importance of the traditional event. One of the biggest crowd-pleasers was the reading of the senior prophecies, this year by Angie Avery and Randy Kramer.

"What we hold of yesterday is only a memory,
but tomorrow is an accomplishment that is yet to be made"

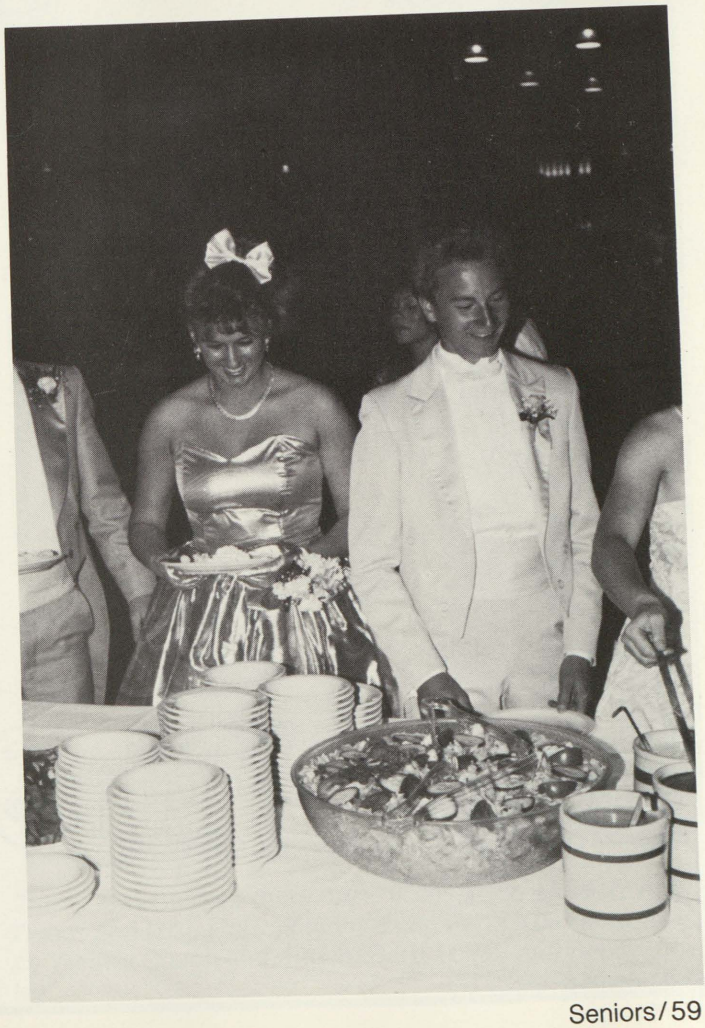
— Class motto



Jeff Ryers and Krista Reinholt serve themselves an excellent meal from the offered buffet.

English Team Takes First Place

Saturday, April 4th, 1987, Reese High School sent four teams of her finest students to compete in the annual county-wide competition known as the Academic Games. Nothing less than the best was expected from these students, all noted for their proficiency in their individual fields, and nothing less was received. Soundly defeating Marlette, Kingston and Cass City, Mr. Matuzak's English team saw no obstacles between themselves and victory. They brought back a first-place trophy for their efforts.

Mrs. Smith's Social Studies team made it into the semi-finals, but fell to Marlette. Both the Math team, under the tutelege of Mr. Weier, and Mrs. Wiseman's Science team, performed well in the games, but still fell short of recognition in these most difficult competitions. Each year since the beginning of the games, Reese has never failed to bring home at least one first-place trophy, and with competitors like the returning underclassmen from this year, it is unlikely that our school ever will.

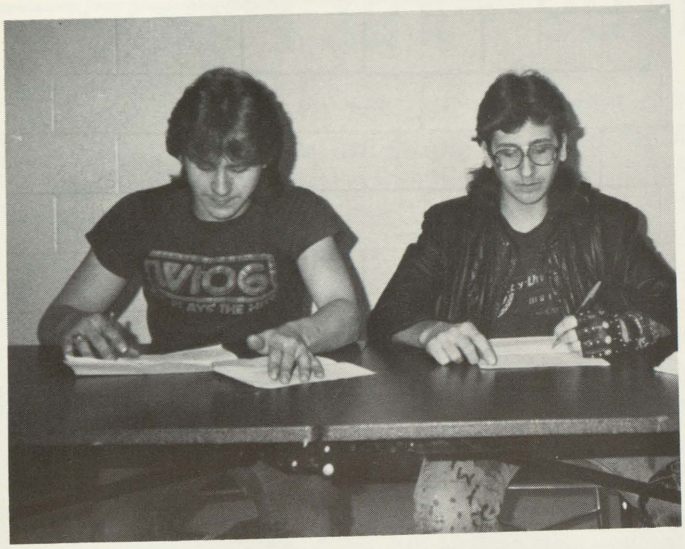
Coach Mrs. Wiseman missed the picture, but the remainder of the Science team was, front: Michelle Frost, Matt Boensch, and Krista Reinholt. Back: Darlene Benson, Phil Gomoluch and Amy Peyok.

The Social Studies team was, front: Todd Mueller, Amy Doerr, and Mike Fleischmann. Back: Pang Kou Hang, Tracy Weber, Coach Mrs. Smith, Barb Toloff, and Brian Conley.



Taking advantage of a quiet moment, Steve and Dan Grzemkowski finish their homework together.

What Will We Miss?

What will the Seniors miss most when they leave RHS? When we asked a select group of the 12th year students, we found that the answers were as varied as the people themselves. Here were some of the responses:

"The thing I'll miss is my friends and all the fun we've had through the years."

— Michelle Majask

"The power, since our class ranks #1 and we are on top at this school."

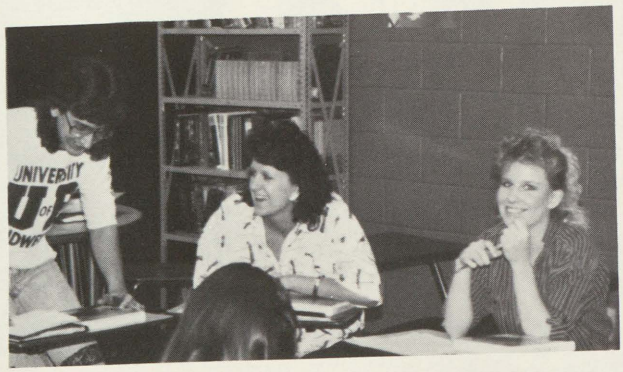
— Tim Peyok

"Nothing!"

— Matt Parrent

"Looking at all the women, slamming the bathroom door, and getting kicked out of class."

— Dan Grzemkowski



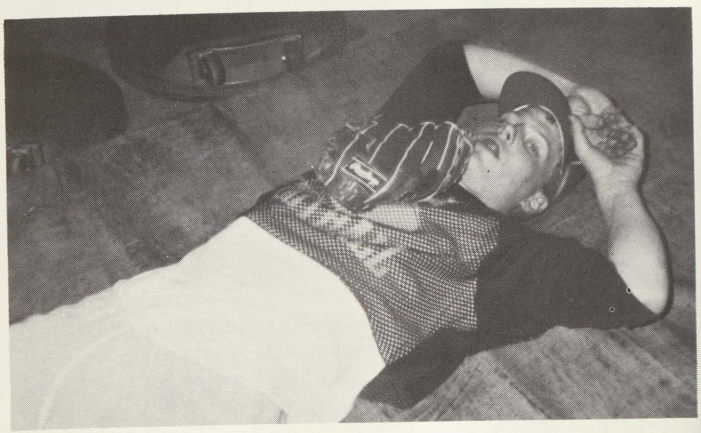
Clearly, there is a lot to miss after your Senior year. Just being in class with friends, as shown above, is one.

The Best Year Yet . . .

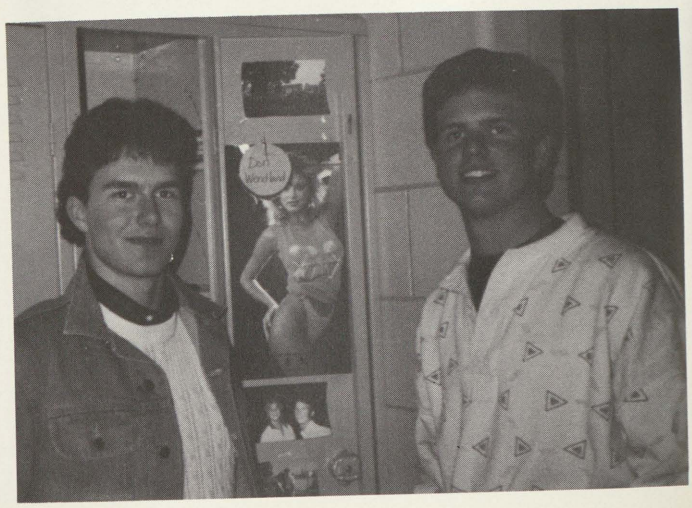
The last year of high school. It took four years to reach it, but those were some of the greatest years of our lives, years of growing and learning. Remember our freshman year? Who could forget our famous "Mr. T" Homecoming float!

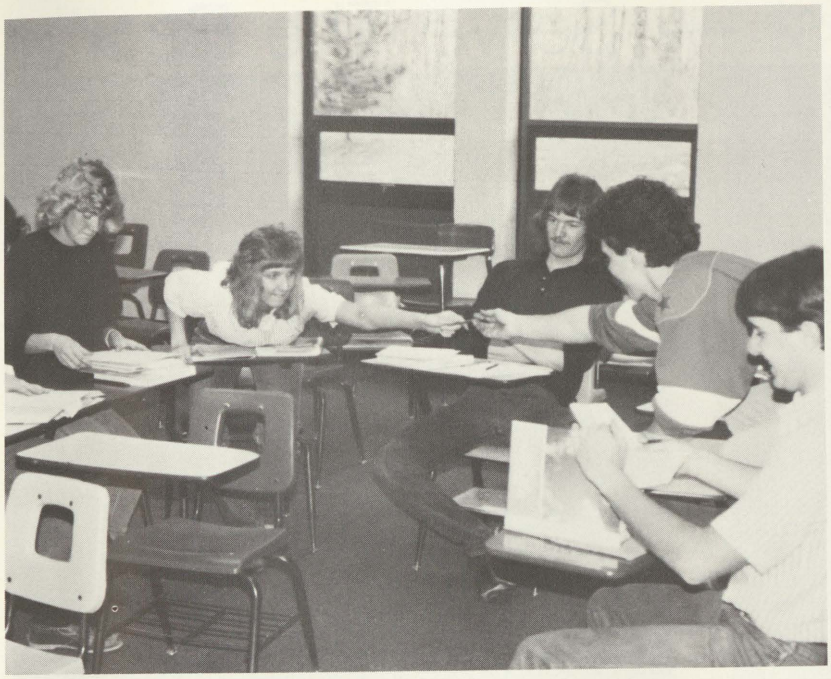
We grew even more through our sophomore and junior years, learning new skills and making new friends, enjoying the happy moments, living through the sad. All in preparation for . . .

Our senior year. One final glimpse of childhood before we are set on the path of forming our own individual lives separate from the circles we knew here. It's a time to celebrate and a time to reflect on the good times we've had here at Reese High School; the athletic events, the classes, and just being with friends, even as we look toward the future. Certainly one of the best years of our lives, and one we'll never forget.



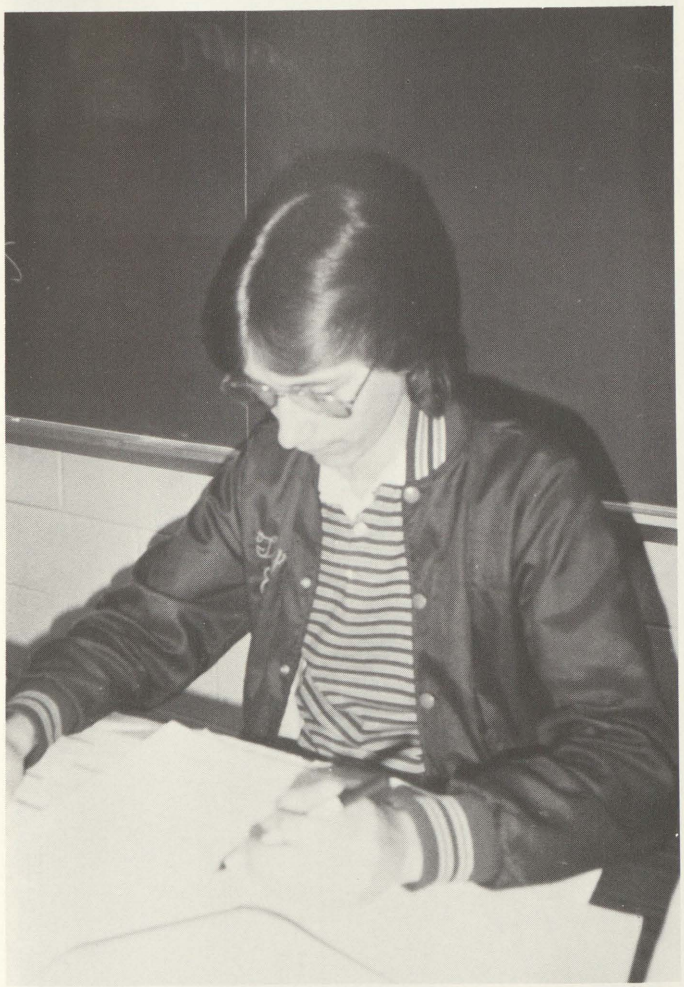
Above: Dan Marsrow rests on the upstairs mats after a tiring baseball practice. As one of the star pitchers, he certainly earned it. Below: One freedom all RHS students enjoy is decorating their lockers as they like them. Here, Jason Zwiker and Don Wendland wait for class in front of Don's well-personalized locker.



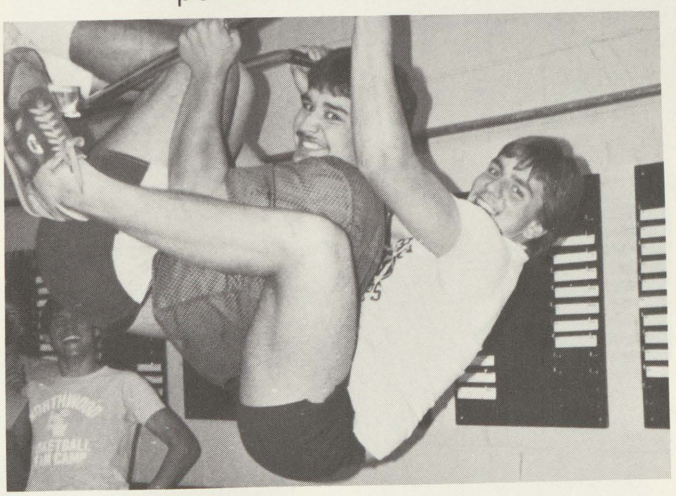


Sometimes a group effort will turn out better then individual work, so the Economics class often formed groups for their projects. Here, they work on labor contracts.

In the Physics lab, Don Wendland and Michelle Frost perfect an experiment.



Finishing assignments counts for a major portion of each day. Above, Troy Reid completes his.

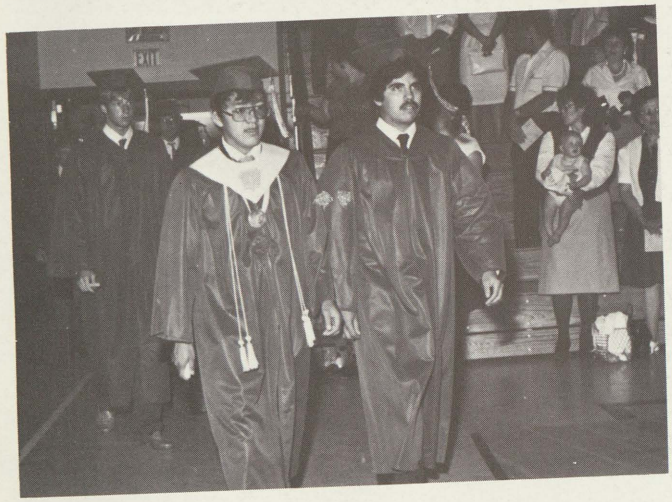


Schoolwork is important, but sometimes so is just goofing around. Mike Null and Tim Peyok work on perfecting the latter.

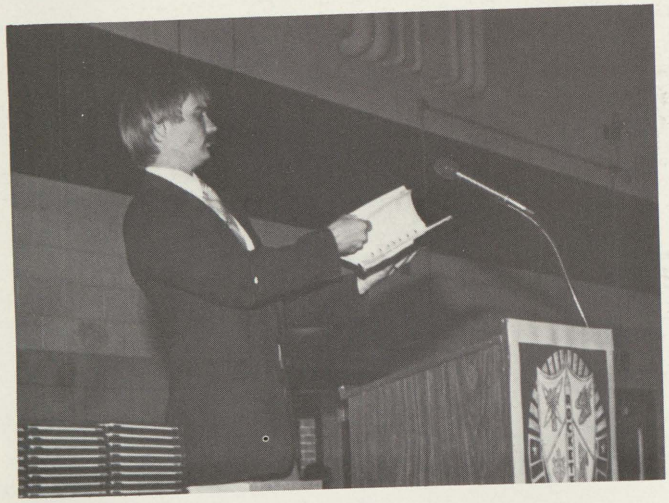
Melissa Zarazua, Angie Avery, Jennifer Todd and Donna Schoenknecht smile happily as the year draws to a close.

"Strive For Best — Serve The Rest"

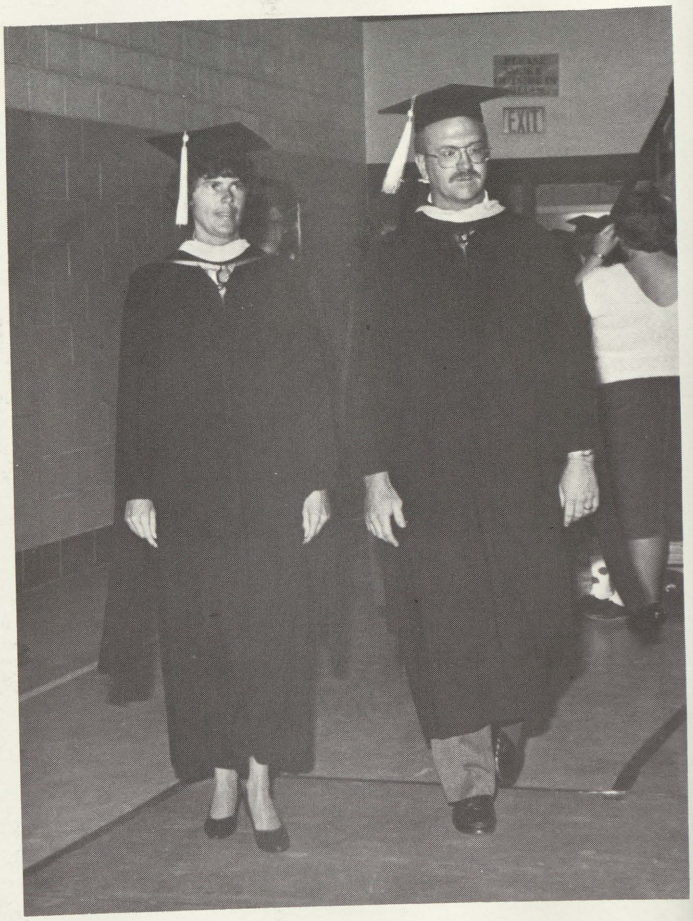
To the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance", the Senior class of 1987 filed into the Reese High gymnasium. Two by two, they marched forward and found their seats. There was an excitement in every face, a spring to every step. This was the culmination, the payoff, of four years of studies. The usual addresses were presented, and the Seniors listened carefully to wise, guiding words from their Valedictorian, Salutatorian, and other speakers. Finally, the moment came, and the first row stood up. They waited near the platform, and were announced one by one, and were given their diplomas . . . the elegant documents that they had worked for throughout their young lives.



Marty Gonzales and Yee Chang Hang file into the ceremony, thinking of the future.

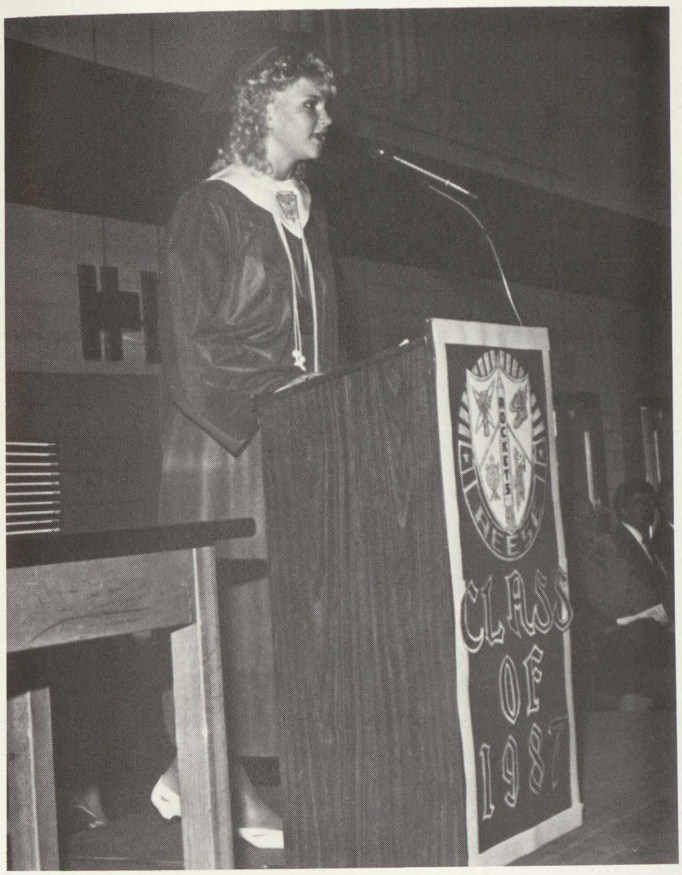


One of the speakers was Dr. McNutt. He presented the Seniors with an inspiring speech.

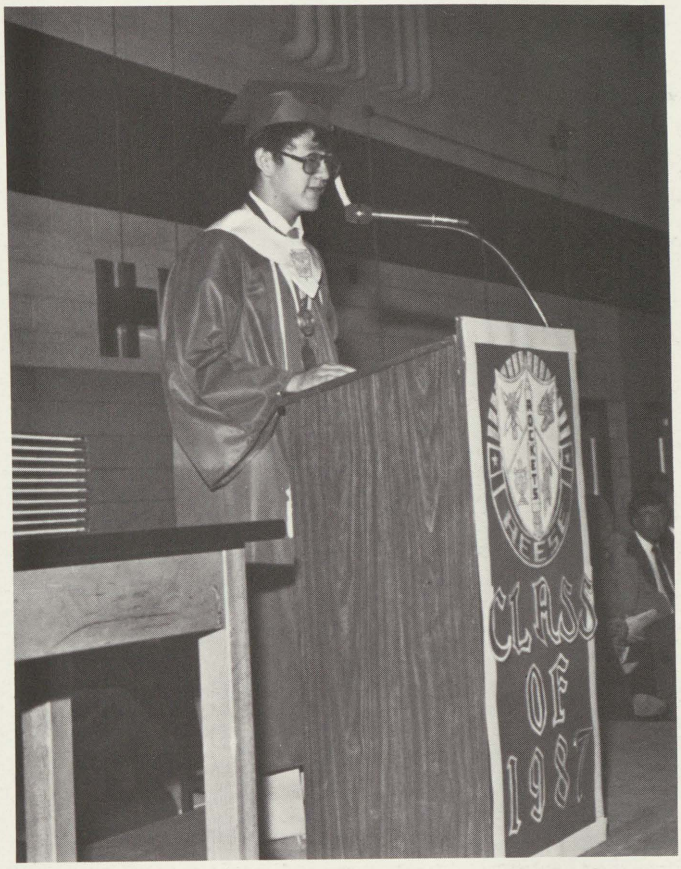


Our guiding forces through our high school years, Miss Jones and Mr. Brown, walk in.

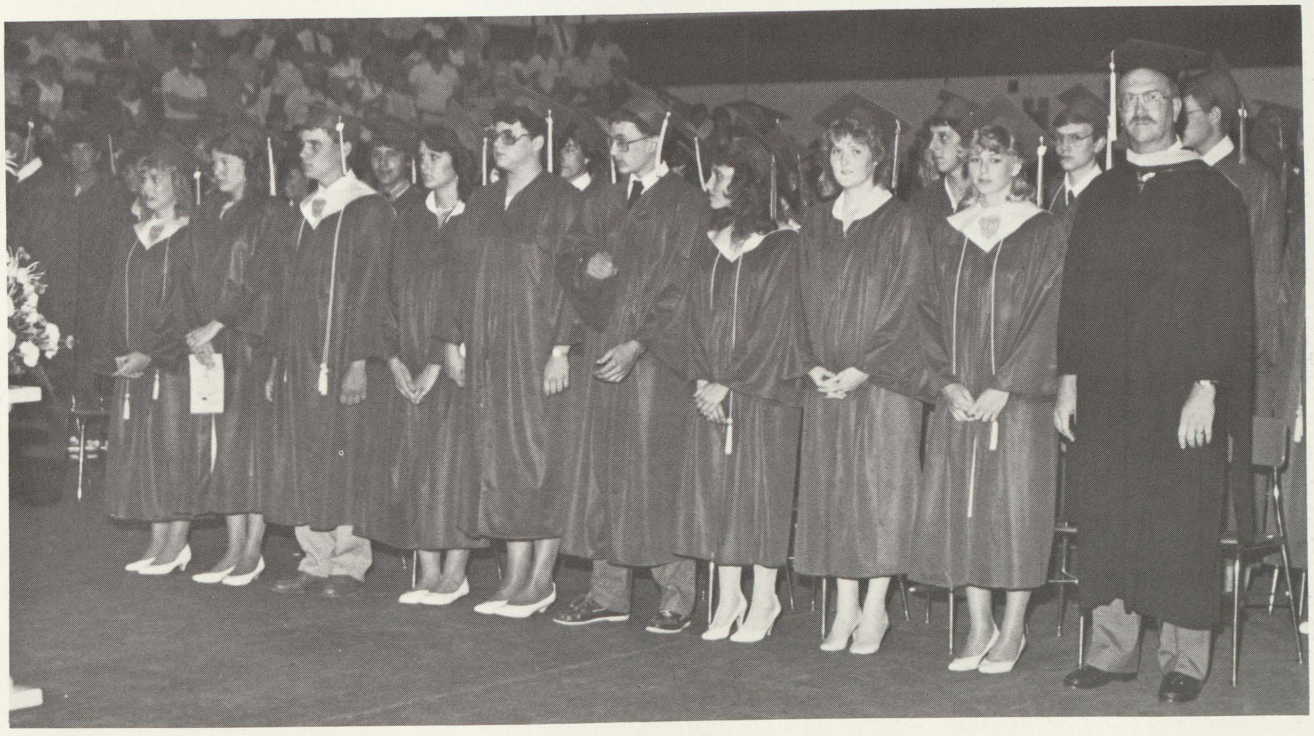
A blue rose was presented to each member of the Senior class by the junior officers.



Valedictorian Krista Reinholt presents the Senior class with her speech.



Also speaking was Yee Chang Hang, the Salutatorian of the class of 1987.



They had strived for it, they had earned it. The graduating class stood proud in their ceremony. Though occasionally gazing back at the life they were leaving, they were ready for the future.

Council Hosts Varied Activities

Kenny Prueter prepares to dunk for another apple at a Halloween assembly sponsored by the Student Council.

The Student Council this year sponsored the annual Homecoming Parade and held the Homecoming Dance in the high school cafeteria.

Also the Student Council sold Ghost-o-Grams and held an assembly encouraging students to dress up for Halloween.

During January, they also sponsored the Homehoming Dance featuring a WIOG disc-jockey.

They were also involved in the programs "Safe Homes" and "Project Graduation".

The Student Council Officers discuss topics for the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

The Student Council Officers include: Chris Roberts, treasurer; Marty Eischer, vice-president; Mr. Jordan, advisor; Yee Hang, president; and Michelle Trombley, secretary.

This year's Student Council members included: Front row: T. Mueller, B. Conley, M. Uhl, R. Kramer, and M. Fleischman. Second row: D. Benson, S. Bremer, C. Roberts, M. Eischer, Y. Hang, M. FFA Proffers Farm Experience

This year's FFA had another productive year. They sold many things to raise money including fruit, seeds, and rose bushes. They also had a six-acre land lab which the chapter used to raise crops. The money from these activities was used to send a few members to the National Convention at Kansas City.

They also held the District Leadership Contest at Reese High School where they had many contests and gave away many awards.

FFA members are sold at the group's slave auction.

Mrs. Hofmeister teaches the class different singing techniques to be used later on in the year.

Co-op Program Offers Training

Those students who desire "on-the-job" work experience may do so for a half a day. Students must apply and be accepted for the program and are also required to be enrolled in a class which is directly related to his or her job. Students were required to be a member of the co-op program and attend the monthly meetings.

Many students take advantage of this program to make money while advancing their education.

Experience Given At Skill Center

The Skill Center this year offered programs which everyone could enjoy. They still had morning and afternoon classes where students could earn three credits for passing. They also received a certificate of approval.

These classes gave students a basic experience which will help them in future jobs and gave them a head start toward learning a specific skill.

Many students who took beginners classes last year moved on to advanced levels in these classes this year.

Tammy Schafsnitz enjoys another day at skill center.

Varsity Squad Captures Third

This year's Varsity Cheerleaders put forth much effort and many hours of practicing to help boost the morale of the teams.

The girls went to a camp sponsored by the United States Cheerleading Association. It was a three-day camp with learning and competitions. They also attended competitions at Central Michigan University and in Kingston.

Thanks for the great effort in creating spirit!

The girls show off their moves by doing the Pee Wee Herman dance.

The 1986-87 Varsity Cheerleaders are M. Barkholz, K. Sheldon, J. Simmet, A. Yax, C. Roberts, K. Brecht, A. Peyok, A. Doerr, and M. Majask.

During a time-out, the cheerleaders entertain the audience.

JV Cheerleaders Raises Spirits

The 1986-87 J.V. Cheerleaders consist of two sophomores and four freshmen.

The girls went to a cheerleading competition in Kingston in which they placed third. They also went to camp at Central Michigan University.

Thanks for all the spirit this past year!

Heather McKinstry laughs as she cheers to the audience.

The J.V. Cheerleaders show their enthusiasm while cheering at a game.

Misty Reaume is full of pep and power while she cheers along with the crowd.

Calm down Cindy; Cathy's not that bad!

The J.V. Cheerleading squad consists of Front Row: C. Sylvester, C. Findlay, M. Reaume, C. Bouvy, and D. Benson. Back Row: H. McKinstry, and A. Kuchar.

Juniors Dominate Varsity Cagers

The Reese Varsity Basketball team had a defeating season, ending up with a record of 5 wins and 15 losses. The team had two seniors, eight juniors, and three sophomores.

Reese held the Districts here involving, Reese, Nouvel, Valley Lutheran, Carrollton, and Michigan Lutheran Seminary. The teams battled to see who would end up first in the area. Nouvel came in first with Reese coming in a whomping third. Reese hopes to break its string with next year's team. Good luck!
